

SoftXpand Wins PC Plus Performance Award

Leading Magazine Review and Product Award confirm the quality of MiniFrame's Multi-User PC Technology

NETANYA, Israel – November 11th, 2008 - SoftXpand, MiniFrame's multi-user PC technology software has won the prestigious "PC Plus Performance Award" in a test conducted by PC Plus. This follows SoftXpand's recent win of the "Green Apple Environment Award" presented to MiniFrameUK at the British Houses of Parliament this month, praising SoftXpand's extreme environmental qualities.

In its December 2008 edition, PC Plus reviews leading virtualisation solutions, including VMWare Player, Microsoft's Virtual PC 2007 and SoftXpand, in an article named "Virtualisation from the ground up". PC Plus rates highly SoftXpand's low energy consumption, variety of packages and effectiveness. The review gave SoftXpand 4.5 out of 5 for performance.

The magazine notes that SoftXpand is "a much rarer type of product...[SoftXpand] takes this concept one stage further by simplifying the user interface to just a monitor, keyboard and mouse." PC Plus highlights SoftXpand's cost-effectiveness by saying "this has most of the advantages of a virtualized system with thin clients but is optimized for smaller numbers of users. In the case of SoftXpand,[...] it's financially very attractive."

High marks go also to SoftXpand's green capabilities. The review concludes that "thinking green, MiniFrame suggests a reduction in electricity consumption from 510W to 120W per hour for six users." Implemented and available in over 30 countries, SoftXpand has been integrated worldwide in an array of vertical markets.
